

Jianrong Pan: ULu Volunteer

We are very grateful to have Jianrong Pan helping out in the office this year. I recently had the opportunity to ask her a few questions about her life in America.

1. Where are you from and what brought you to West Lafayette? I'm from China. I am an associate professor of Civil Engineering in South China University of Technology. I came to West Lafayette to be a visiting scholar at Purdue.

2. How did you become involved at University Lutheran?

My close friend Lingxiao Gong (a visiting scholar who has returned to China) introduced me to University Lutheran Church.

3. You attend the International Bible Study on Sunday evenings.

What is the most surprising or interesting thing you have learned through this study? I learn a lot from the International Bible Study on Sunday evenings. Pastor is very professional and talks with us about Jesus and many different characters in the Bible. The pastor is very nice to discuss human faith, not only Jesus. Every person is very nice in the church.

4. You have been a big help to me in the office. What has motivated you to give your time to serving here at ULu?

Before I came to America, I am very curious about church. I only know it from TV or movies. I would like to get to know it closely. In my Chinese school, I'm a faculty with a salary, and no time and chance to be a volunteer. So, I enjoy volunteering here, and it has been a special life experience.

5. I saw some photos of your recent trip out West and they are beautiful! What is your favorite memory of your travels in America so far? I like the American national parks. My favorite memories of my travels are the beautiful natural environment, developed highway traffic, high-quality local people, and so on. Everything seems to be in an orderly way.

6. What advice would you give to someone who has recently moved to America from overseas? In your spare time, it is better to know American culture, American life and American people. Whether you are Christian or not, it is good to know church and do some good things for people.
